

Council To Have Parking Lanes Painted On Front And Mill Sts.

To Halt The Speeding Of Ambulances Through The Streets Of This Village

Complaints over motorists parking on the main street so as to take up too much space led to a lengthy discussion at the regular meeting of this Village body on Tuesday night. Discussion ranged all the way from the installation of parking meters to widening the thoroughfare and ended in a decision to have parking lanes painted on the road surface on Front and Mill streets.

Reeve H. J. Wells presided and Councillors Bailey, Elliott and Holt were present.

Correspondence was tabled from G. M. Moon, Secretary of the Centre Hastings High School Area, asking Council to appoint a representative to the Area Board for the balance of 1949 and appointee to have no voting power; from General Accident Insurance Co.; re Boiler Inspectors' report on boiler in Community Building; Dept. of Health, re cemetery map; Bickell-Grave Ltd.; and from Bata Shoe Co., enclosing cheque for $200, rental on fire engine, and advising Council that engine would be returned to the Village by August 15th.

The Report of the Boiler Inspector showed some needed repairs on the boiler in the Community Building and Councillors Bailey and Elliott will supervise the work.

Fire Siren On Order

A letter from Bickell-Grave Ltd. acknowledged Council's order of a two-horse fire siren.

A telegram from Pan American Advertising relative to material for a theatre calendar, which was tabled by Clerk Mallory, revealed that a salesman had sold considerable advertising to local business men on the strength of having an order for the publication of a calendar for the Stirling Theatre. Reeve Wells stated that the local theatre management had not placed any order and it was a matter for Council to decide. No action was taken.

Grant Use Of Theatre

A request was presented by Councillor Bailey from the Stirling Community Recreation Council asking for use of the theatre for a free children's show to be shown by Mr. Rose, the sports director. The request was granted.

The matter of filling in a mud hole on John street near John McGowan's residence was discussed at length and the Streets Committee was given authority to investigate and take whatever action was necessary.

The construction and repair of sidewalks in the Village was also discussed and the committee will take action when labour is available. Clerk Mallory was instructed to write the local Hydro Commission asking that a pressure control switch be installed on the pump at the Stirling Creamery well and that the switches on the pumps at the main well be repaired.

Hydro will also be asked to place any new poles which they may erect in future as close to the street line as possible.

The following accounts were presented for payment:

Stirling News-Argus, $36.00; Stirling Lumber Co., $27.50; Belcour and Cooke, $264.50; D. M. Sine, $91.00; Same Bowen, $96.80; Dept. of Health, $175; F. R. Doubleheader In District League

In a doubleheader in the District Softball League played at the Recreational Centre last night, the Legion defeated Rylstone 5 to 3 and Wallbridge downed Ivanhoe 15 to 10. Both games were thrilling and were witnessed by a large crowd of fans.

Ladies Triples Tournament

Nine rinks of lady bowlers competed in the annual Triples Tournament sponsored by the Stirling Ladies' Bowling Club on Friday afternoon last. Belleville was represented by four rinks; Campbellford, two; Peterborough, one; and Stirling, two.

High honours for the day went to Mrs. Ward, of Belleville, with three wins and a score of 39. Second prize also went to a Belleville rink skipped by Mrs. Cross, with a score of 39 and a plus of 12. The prize for one win went to a Stirling rink skipped by Mrs. W. T. Elliott.

Play was held up for about an hour in the afternoon by rain, but keen bowling was enjoyed.

Provincial Clinic To Be Here

The Provincial Clinic for diagnosis of diseases of the chest will be held in Stirling in the basement of the Public Library on the afternoon of August 16th and from 9 to 5 p.m. on Aug. 17th.

Appointments for this examination must be made through the family physician or the local Medical Officer of Health. No examination or X-ray will be carried out unless this appointment has been made.

T.V.L. Play-offs

A meeting of the Trent Valley League was held in Frankford on Sunday to make arrangements for the play-offs.

Representatives were present from Frankford, Stirling, Wooler, Campbellford and Hastings. President Carl Austin, of Wooler, was in the chair.

It was decided that the first four teams play-off — 1 and 3; 2 and 4, a best of three series, the deciding game if necessary, to be played on the grounds of the leading team. Finals will be a best of five series. Play-offs will commence Tuesday, August 9th.

At present Wooler is on top, with Stirling, Campbellford, Hastings, Frankford and Colborne following in that order, but all standings can be affected by this week's schedule, with the exception of Colborne, who are the cellar team with but only two wins to date.

Ambulances Speed Through Village

Stirling citizens are up in arms over the manner in which drivers of ambulances drive through this village, endangering the lives of adults and children alike.

On Saturday night, when streets were lined with cars and shoppers, and again on Tuesday afternoon, Belleville ambulances whizzed through this Village at speeds far beyond the regulation speed, and it was only a matter of good luck that an accident did not occur. Everyone appreciates the urgency connected with most ambulance calls, but there is no excuse for jeopardizing the lives of several for the sake of one.

Questioned by Reeve Wells at Tuesday's Council meeting, Chief of Police S. Eggleton stated that he had not seen the offences but had been told of it by several and would lay a charge if there were any citizens prepared to appear as witnesses. He had phoned the proprietor of the ambulance in question on Tuesday and had been promised that it would not occur again.

Win And Lose

Stirling Intermediates won one and lost one in the T.V. League this past week. On Thursday night, they journeyed to Colborne and defeated the home forces 27 to 11 to take second place in the league standing. Rodgers and Dobson with a homer and four singles each, led the local hitters.

On Tuesday night they were defeated by Campbellford on the latter's home diamond by a score of 8 to 3, to leave these two teams tied for second place. Tonight the teams meet again in Campbellford to break the tie.

LOCAL POST OFFICE ROBBED

Thieves forced their way into the Stirling Post Office some time during Wednesday night and after jimmying the vault, escaped with a large quantity of stamps and a small sum of cash. The break-in was discovered by Fred McDonnell, mail courier, about 6.30 a.m. this morning, when he arrived at the office to take the mail to the morning train. Postmaster Houchin was notified and in turn postal authorities at Ottawa, Constable S. W. Eggleton and Provincial Police were advised of the robbery.

The thieves are alleged to have gained entry through the window directly over the letter box on Charlotte St. The vault was shoved from the main office into the vestibule at the south west corner of the building and forced open with a bar, which had previously been stolen from the service station just across the road, operated by Don Francis.

Provincial Police and Constable Eggleton are investigating the crime.

Pretty Ceremony Performed At Home of the Bride On Saturday At Bonarlaw

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McKeown, of Bonarlaw, was the attractive setting when their youngest daughter, Betty Marie, was united in marriage to Donald L. Sutton, of St. Catharines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sutton, Prescott, in a double-ring ceremony officiated over by the Rev. H. E. Beare, Springbrook.

A beautiful array of gladioli, ferns and other summer flowers formed the background for the occasion.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. A. G. Watson, while Miss Beverly McKeown assisted by singing "I Love You Truly" and "I'll Walk Beside You".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attractively gowned in ivory slipper satin with net yolk embroidered with seed pearl flowers. Her veil of tulle was held in a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Her only attendant, Miss Donna McGee was attired in a floor-length gown of pink faille taffeta with matching headpiece and mittens and she carried a nosegay of yellow roses and gladioli.

The little flower girl, Miss Anne Rowe, was sweet in a gown of yellow faille taffeta, embroidered with blue forget-me-nots and with bonnet to match. She carried a basket of pink sweet peas and cornflowers.

The groom was attended by Mr. Grant Wallace, of Niagara Falls.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held with the bride's mother receiving in a frock of navy petit-point and a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, dressed in a flowered navy silk frock and a corsage of Talisman roses.

After a tasty lunch, the happy couple left for a short honeymoon trip to Montreal and points east.

For travelling, the bride wore navy sheer dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The groom's gift to the bride was a chest of silver and to the soloist, a gold bracelet.

The bride trained and received her R.N. at Belleville General Hospital.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Houchin. The service was conducted in the home by Rev. W. H. V. Walker, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and committal was in Stirling cemetery. The bearers were all grandchildren of the deceased and were Kenneth, Walter and Ivan Balford, of Erinville, Thomas Richardson, of Oshawa, and Douglas and Gordon Richardson, of Stirling.

Hastings County Centennial Held In Tweed Park

Three thousand persons invaded Tweed Memorial Park Monday afternoon to celebrate the centennial of Hastings County. The anniversary of the founding of the county was held in Tweed in honor of S. A. McCarey, reeve of Tweed and the 100th warden. Favored by perfect summer weather, the crowd was treated to a program of speed boat races, ball games, novelty contests, with a wind up dance at night.

Municipal Affairs Minister George A. Dunbar, chief speaker of the afternoon, paid tribute to the hard-working pioneers who laid the foundations of this county, which stretches from the Bay of Quinte on the south almost to Algonquin Park on the north. Mr. Dunbar said Hastings County particularly the northern areas, has a great future from the standpoint of attracting many more thousands of American tourists annually.

Many ex-county councillors and municipal officials were on hand today from all parts of the county to join in the festivities. Warden McCarey, in welcoming the visitors thanked county council for its confidence in electing him warden in the centennial year.

Presentations were made to Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, Sidney Township, as the oldest warden present; to James A. Moore, of Elezevir, the oldest ex-county councillor, and to Joseph Hughes, 90, the oldest man on the grounds. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hanna, of Mayo Township, one of the extreme northern municipalities, won the prize for having the largest families. They paraded 10 children before the committee.

Speed boats from Fisher's Landing, Alexandria Bay and Ogdensburg, N.Y., and many Ontario centres, were entered in the various classes. Tweed branch of the Canadian Legion were in charge of the aquatic sports.

Dining-Car System Revised By C.N.R.

The Canadian National Railways has put to the test the British dining-car system designed to eliminate queuing among travellers and reduce losses on diner service.

A spokesman for the government-owned system said the British system had been tested on the company's Halifax-Montreal boat trains the last month and has proved "successful". The test has now been extended to regular runs right across the country.

Lineups for meals are eliminated by serving the meals in a series of "sit-downs", he explained. Before each meal a steward passes through the coaches asking the passengers the sitting at which they would like to be served. They are given a card which admits them to the diner with no waiting when their turn comes up.

Pupils, Ratepayers Honour Newiyweds

The pupils and ratepayers of SS No. 13 gathered at the school on Tuesday, July 26th, in the evening to honour their school teacher on the occasion of her marriage to Kenneth Snider on July 20th. Nearly 60 guests were present. Merle Moore acted as chairman.

A program was put on by the pupils including humorous readings by Marlene Hadley and Ronnie Hadley. An address was read by the chairman. The pupils then presented the newlyweds with a tri-lite floor lamp. Mr. and Mrs. Snider thanked their friends for the gift. Mrs. Snider, who was formerly Miss June Walker, has taught at Harold school for four years and will continue teaching when school opens again in September.

Temagami Trailer Camp Improved

Thousands of Canadian and United States tourists who have in the past made their Northern Ontario headquarters at Finlayson Park trailer camp here won't know the old place the next time they head north. The Park, operated by the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, is situated just one mile from Temagami village on a picturesque point jutting out into a narrow channel of Lake Temagami.

Open to the general public, the park has numerous camp and trailer sites, open-air fireplaces and now ice-cold well water and toilet facilities. Veteran Ranger Con Ross supervises the Park, and manages to find time to read tourists, and particularly children a warning about forest fires and other conservation measures.

Today, rangers are giving the Park an overhauling. They are building fire places and installing double-end outdoor stoves with concrete and stone foundations, clearing away underbrush and providing parking facilities some distance from the now-crowded park point. In addition, wooden bases are being provided for tourists who are content to erect their own tents on arrival. The park also has a large recreation hall which is available for rainy days and there is no lack of music for informal dances. Nearly every tourist car which arrives brings with it either a portable radio or a gramophone.

Hydro workmen are fast approaching the point when Temagami village will be provided with electric lights and, it is understood, the trailer camp will also be so equipped for next summer's operation. The Park was established 15 years ago and named in honour of the late Hon. William Finlayson, one time Minister of Lands and Forests.

Maskinonge Popular Fish

The popularity of the Maskinonge as a game fish increases yearly, and as a consequence the waters in which it is found are heavily fished. To assist nature in maintaining the supply the Department of Lands and Forests hatches and raises a considerable number of Maskinonge each year at its Deer Lake Station. Distribution of Maskinonge fry and fingerlings from this station has now been completed for this year.

The number of fry released in suitable water was 2,770,000. This was slightly lower than the total fry distribution of last year, due largely to the fact that spawning conditions were not quite as favourable. However, the small drop in the fry total is compensated for by the fact that over 50 per cent more fingerlings distributed this year. In 1948 some 24,600 fingerlings were raised and distributed, while for 1949 the total was 37,635. Well over 30,000 of these ranged in size from 3 to 5 inches, the balance represented 2 inch fish released in the first plantings.

The additional pond now available at the Deer Lake Station contributed greatly to the increased production. Also of immeasurable help in rearing the large total of fingerlings was the fact that some 10 million Sucker fry were hatched at Deer Lake to augment the food supply of minnows raised in a special pond at the hatchery.

The Sucker eggs were secured through the co-operation of the Skeleto Lake and Port Arthur hatcheries. At these points Departmental officers set trap nets during the Sucker run and stripped the eggs from ripe fish. The eggs were hardened at the hatcheries and, subsequently, shipped to the Deer Lake Station where they were hatched and the fry used as food for the Maskinonge.

The raising of Maskinonge in large numbers to the fingerling stage is fraught with many difficulties, chief of which is the provision of an adequate food supply. The Maskinonge is an extremely voracious fish and if the appetite of the young is not appeased by constant supplies of live food, they will eat one another until only the largest and most aggressive survive.

Fire Hazard Conditions Prevail

The Department of Lands and Forests reports that during the period from July 14th to July 20th a total of 107 forest fires were handled by the Division of Forest Protection. Of this number only two attained major proportions. A fire which occurred at Gull River in the Port Arthur District reached an area of 1,450 acres before it was extinguished. A second fire at Barrington Lake, Sioux Lookout District, covered 1,200 acres. The remainder of the fires were extinguished before reaching an average of five acres. To date this year 895 fires have been extinguished, while another 25 are receiving attention. The approximate area involved in the total number of fires is 23,839 acres.

Once again the public is reminded that fire hazard conditions will remain until the snow flies. It is of the utmost importance therefore that those who travel the forests for business or pleasure should be extremely careful with camp fires and smoking materials. Carelessness at any time is inexcusable; it becomes a serious matter when valuable property is unnecessarily destroyed and human lives placed in jeopardy.

Book Will Give Life Story Of Andy Clarke

A book which a large number of our readers will no doubt want to buy is in course of preparation and will be ready by Fall. It is the story covering the life of "Andy" Clarke, The Mayor of Little Places, for eight years broadcaster of "Neighbourly News".

The book is being published by his wife Vi Clarke, with Gillis Purcell, of the Candian Press, and Dan McArthur of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation doing the main editing. The material for the book is being sifted from a million words of broadcasting, "Neighbourly News".

The introduction will be written by "Greg" Clark (no relation), well-known writer of humorous fiction. Dr. Pierce of the Ryerson Press will give the final o.k. to the material.

"Andy" Clarke, who died last May, had a big following, not only in Ontario and Quebec, but in the United States as well, and many of these radio friends will be anxious to have a copy of the book, giving highlights of Andy's interesting life, and particularly those years which he devoted to covering "the unusual happenings of those important parts of Ontario and Quebec which lie outside the cities."

Bethel W.A.

The monthly meeting of the Bethel W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Heath on Thursday, July 21st, with a large attendance. The meeting took the form of a "Children's Day". The president opened the meeting by all singing the theme song, after which the president, Mrs. Laycock, offered prayer. Hymn "He Leadeth Me", was sung. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted and correspondence dealt with. It was decided to serve the dinner at Stirling Fair. Mrs. Dracup spoke a few words of appreciation.

The August meeting will take the form of a quilting. The Scripture reading was taken by Mrs. S. J. Elliott. The president read the lesson thoughts from the W.A. programme. Hymn "Fight the Good Fight" was sung. Mrs. Welbourn closed the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Stewart Hoover and Mrs. Walter Warren conducted several games and contests for both young and old, after which a delicious lunch was served. Mrs. James Warren moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for the very enjoyable day.

Barn, Pigs, Hay Destroyed By Fire

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the large barn of Mr. Warren Hay, of Allan's Mills, on Friday evening. A considerable amount of hay was burned as was a sow and young pigs, and a practically new tractor.

Neighbours rushed to the scene but were unable to put out the fire which had gained a head start on the inside of the barn.

County Home Inmates Enjoy Theatre Party

Inmates of the Hastings County Home are enjoying motion picture diversion these warm summer evenings, thanks to the efforts of the Soroptimist and Kiwanis clubs and the co-operation of the Marshall Road Drive-In Theatre.

The service clubs are alternating in taking twenty inmates to the theatre, once a month. The management of the Drive-In theatre is generously donating free tickets and "treats" of soft drinks and pop corn to the elderly guests.

Superintendent Ken Yorke and Matron Mrs. Yorke of the county institution said today that the theatre parties were greatly enjoyed by their charges.

Hasty Pees Re-union Oct. 8th and 9th

Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment will hold its 1949 reunion in Peterborough, Oct. 8th and 9th, it was announced Wednesday by Col. A. A. Kennedy, of Owen Sound, president of the Regimental Association of the famed First Divisional wartime battalion.

The regiment's Scholarship fund was also discussed at a week end executive meeting. This fund is for the promotion of higher education for children of comrades killed in action. At present 21 girls and boys are eligible. The Hastings and Prince Edward wartime regimental funds have been turned into the Scholarship Fund, so that its reunions like that to be held in Peterborough this fall support the Scholarship Fund rather than drain regimental funds.

Work On Section Of 62 Highway Being Rushed

Modern excavating machinery, heavy trucks and dynamite are gradually rushing work on the new part of the Madoc-Bannockburn Highway which starts at Bannockburn and connects with the Faulkner highway east of Millbridge.

The right-of-way has been cut through timbered and rocky terrain and excellent views of the construction work are now visible from parts of the old highway.

The new stretch of highway follows a straight line west of the old road from Bannockburn and will connect with the southern tip of the Faulkner highway at Millbridge.

The work is going rapidly forward. Pavement work has also been completed on that part of the highway three miles south of Bannockburn.

What Others Say I

LET DIAMOND CUT DIAMOND

The Toronto morning paper has called attention to the fact that several cocktail bars in that city are cheating their customers with trick glasses and measuring cups, and are selling drinks that are smaller than they pretend to be.

This is undoubtedly a dreadful situation, not to be tolerated in an honest land like this, and we urge that the wicked saloon keepers be brought to trial at once.

As their jurors we suggest a few of those fruit-growers who were so successful for years in selling green peaches under pink netting, a few butchers who have become so expert at weighing fat and bone with a piece of meat, and, of course, a few officials of the L.C.B.O. who have so deftly sold watered liquor ever since a "war emergency" made it to the public (and the saloon keepers) possible—Peterborough Examiner.

A TOWN PROBLEM

Depreciation of property values has a direct effect on the revenues of the municipality. Since real property is practically the town's only source of revenue, it is . . . essential that everything possible be done to maintain the value of property at the highest level. —Pembroke (Ont. Standard-Observer).

To today's graduates, with our congratulations, must go a word of advice. The world is at your doorstep, riches greater than those of Croesus are yours for the taking. But with it all must go hard, never-ending work, a keen sense of duty and responsibility and a do-or-die spirit which nothing can deter. These are all one. —Campbellton (NB) Tribune.

TWO NEW NOTARIES

Current issue of the Ontario Gazette contains announcement of two new notaries in Port Hope and Belleville — Russell Clayton Honey, barrister-at-law, of the town of Port Hope, to be a Notary Public in and for the province of Ontario; Edward Augustus Harold Porter, barrister-at-law, of the city of Belleville, to be a Notary Public in and for the province of Ontario.

The Kingston Whig-Standard says that it once tried to laugh at its troubles, but the troubles laughed right back. Yes, and trouble has an awfully loud laugh—almost rude.

There are many kinds of liquids that can be mixed without danger, but if you are smart you will never try to mix alcohol with gasoline, less you find yourself on the well-known "slab".

Municipal Finance

"You've got to be sane, don't go beyond your depth," said George Dunbar, Minister of Municipal Affairs, at an Ontario Municipal Association meeting.

Touching on matters of municipal finance, the Minister said that when a municipality is contemplating the incurring of debenture debt, regard must always be evident for the ability of the ratepayers to pay.

The Minister was in favour of the recreation centre in communities where juvenile delinquency could be combatted, but he put forth the reminder that the cost of construction is only the first cost and that due consideration should be given to the subsequent cost of maintenance and operation.

There are many place in Ontario in this category. The Minister's warning while dealing chiefly with the construction of recreation centres by municipalities, is applicable, we feel, to all municipal expenditures. New construction of any kind must be maintained.

Hello Homemakers! This year's Woman's World at the Canadian National Exhibition is indeed electrified. The products of the range and refrigerator will be in the spotlight. Men, along with teen-agers, and you, the women are invited to enter the competition. You will find the food contests "as easy as pie". Honestly though, you may win $100 cash for your apple pie on September 7th, or by submitting a week end budget for five people on September 10th. Then, too, there is a $50 prize for the ham and two eggs you can cook for the Judge on August 31st, or the salad plate you can prepare for them on September 8th. By the way, there are second, third and fourth prizes too.

Send the letter stating competitions you wish to enter before August 15th. The address is Mrs. Kate Aitkens, Woman's World Exhibition, C.N.E., Toronto.

On the day of the scheduled competition in which you wish to compete you will go to the second floor in the Coliseum to Woman's World. Check your registration, name and address on application and be available to take over the project. Everything will be ready for you. There will be an electric range ready at the flip of the switch, and all the necessary equipment, as well as the ingredients.

The competitors will be judged on the speed of assembly, the ease of handling the equipment, the quality of the prepared food, and the artistry of the dish. For example: the ham should be lifted into the pan with the fork, the pan should be carried on the level, the grease should be drained off before the end of the cooking, or the ham should be lifted to a piece of paper towelling on a plate, to drain off excess fat. Then an egg should be broken into a saucer and slipped into the warm fat — first one egg, then the other. Reduce the heat to Low and cook with a cover or by basting frequently. Transfer to plate with ease and care.

In regard to the salad, the ingredients will be in the refrigerator for you. Trim and prepare quickly. Think of your colour combinations as you shake the washed greens loosely in a towel. Give consideration to food value as well as the quality of the salad ingredients. Do your job just as you would at home and enjoy it. Wish you all could win.

On the day when the big prize is for budget menus, you go into the room with only a few ideas in mind. As you are given your entry blank and a price list of the seasonal foods, check them over and write down menus for Saturday night supper, Sunday breakfast, dinner and supper. Economy is the key note. Consider the following points:

A meal should be different in texture, that is, salad with custard dessert — never cream soup and blanc mange on the same menu. A meal should have variety in foods, that is, raw tomatoes and apple pie — never, tomato juice and raw tomatoes.

A meal should have a difference in flavour, that is, a Spanish Onion and a fruit cup — never, liver and onions and spice cake.

A meal should have variety in colour, for instance, glazed carrots and lime jelly — never, cauliflower and bread pudding.

A meal should have good digestive foods, for example, roast chicken and codded apples — never, fried pork chops and spicy pie.

The day's meals should include milk or milk dishes, one serving of meat, fish, poultry or eggs, one serving of potatoes, two servings of vegetables — one raw and one coloured, one serving of citrus fruit juice or raw tomatoes, four to six slices of whole wheat bread or a whole-grained cereal product.

Now, plan your menus and plan to win.

There is an easy baking item you can make and deliver on September 7th, before 11 a.m., D.S.T. It is apple pie — without spice. Try your favourite recipe in a 9-inch pan or test our suggestion on the judges. Don't forget to put your name on a piece of adhesive tape and stick it to the pie pan, as well as fill out your entry blank.

APPLE PIE

Pastry
1½ cups sifted cake or pastry flour
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
¼ cup shortening
About ½ cup water
Mix and sift dry ingredients. Cut shortening into the flour mixture with a pastry blender or two knives. The pastry should resemble coarse oatmeal when properly blended. Sprinkle in ice water gradually by spoonful until a soft dough is formed. Chill dough for about one hour. Turn on to a lightly floured board and pat the pastry into rectangular shape. Roll up like a jelly roll, then cut in half before rolling out. This is sufficient pastry for your two-crust 9-inch pie.

Filling
6 medium-sized tart apples
one-third cup granulated sugar
½ tsp. salt
2 tps. lemon juice
one-third tsp. lemon rind
2 tps. butter

Pare, core and cut the apples into eighths. Mix apples, granulated sugar, salt, lemon juice, and lemon rind together in a bowl, then place the apple mixture into a pastry lined pie plate. Lightly dampen the edges of the bottom crust, dot the butter over the top of the filling. Cover with pastry for the top, that has been slashed in an attractive design for the steam to escape. Bake in an electric oven that has been preheated to 425 degrees for 10 minutes, then reduce the heat to 350 degrees and cook for about 40 minutes. Remove from the oven and cook quickly.

Miracle of Paper Had Origin In China 1,900 Years Ago

Early China had a word for paper. Its written symbol—two silk cocoons hung by a thread—told the story of the first true paper, which Chinese craftsmen learned to make originally from silk fabrics and later from wood. Modern paper is the direct descendant of a Chinese invention, the brain child of one Ts'ai Lun in A.D. 105. The emperor of that age, Ho-ti, appointed Ts'ai Lun Minister of Agriculture and gave him a title of nobility in honour of his important discovery.

Long before this time men knew the art of writing but until the advent of paper, clumsy, inefficient mediums seriously held back its development. The earliest men cut their signs and symbols upon rock and bones. Sometimes the Egyptians, Assyrians and Indians put their laws, decrees, contracts and even literary work on stone tablets. Later, slabs of clay, wood and metal, palm leaves and the bark of trees were used.

Papyrus, a sort of matted paper made from the papyrus reed, was perfected by the Egyptians before 3,000 B.C. and proved a fairly successful writing material. It was the closest thing to paper until Ts'ai Lun's great achievement. Until well into the fourth century of this era, papyrus remained a precious material and was widely used throughout the West and Middle East. Papyrus exports from Egypt went to all known countries of the time, from East Turkestan to the Canary Islands, and from Scotland to the Sudan.

From remote times, animal hides, first raw and later tanned, have been used as a writing material by the people of the Near East. They formed parchment, the only serious rival to papyrus, until true paper found its way from China. It came to Europe first with the old camel skin trains as a finished product—its secret of manufacture jealously guarded. Not until an Arab army victory over Chinese armies near Samarkand in 751 A.D. did paper settle in the West as an industry, set up by captured Chinese papermakers.

For a long period before fire in 213 B.C. destroyed a great stock of precious books, the Chinese wrote on bamboo strips. Disturbed by this loss, the kingdom's leaders began to look for a better writing material. Sheets of pure silk answered the purpose for a time but proved too costly for general use.

Ts'ai Lun's discovery was revolutionary and a near miracle for he succeeded in producing a pulp from the inner bark of trees, hemp, discarded cloth and old fishing nets — all of which could be moulded into paper. The massive modern paper-making establishments still use Ts'ai Lun's basic discoveries.

Chinese papermakers first soaked their raw materials in water and then labouriously stamped or beat the wet mash, and with a deft movement with stone mortar. The battered pulp was poured onto a cloth stretched out on a bamboo frame and spread as thin as possible. Dried in the sun, it became a rough paper. A "mould" or sieve-like frame came into use at a later stage. Vatmen, practised in the art, would dip a "mould" frame into the mash, and with a deft movement withdraw and drain the frame now covered with a thin, even sheet of pulp. When the water was thoroughly drained through the bamboo sieve "mould", the matted sheet was rolled off, pressed and hung up to dry to become paper. Treated with powder of gypsum, rice starch and a concoction of mosses, a smooth surface came up which prevented the spread of ink. In some parts of China, paper is still made in this ancient manner.

Without the benefit of modern patents, the Chinese somehow kept their papermaking secrets away from the rest of the world for many centuries, even daring to export the finished product. Not until the seventh century did the Japanese learn the art and only the rise of Arab might in the eighth and ninth centuries unlocked the process for Europe's hungry markets.

Arab rule spread from Eastern Turkestan to the south of Spain, extending over three continents, and for a long time their astrologers, poets and merchants had sought a writing material to replace Egypt's papyrus monopoly. The captured Chinese papermakers in 751 gave the needed answer. Mills soon hummed in Samarkand and then spread across to Baghdad, Egypt, and finally to Europe where the famous Arab geographer, El Edrisi, describes Europe's paper mill at Xativa, Spain, in an account of his travels of the year 1150.

The mechanically-minded Arabs introduced a number of new features. They produced a pulp from linen or flax-waste, or from rags which in China had been only accessories. They also put to work their expert knowledge of irrigation. Water-power drove a well-thought-out combination of wheels, forming a stamping mill which was kept in use through the centuries with little alteration.

Papermaking became one of the fine arts of the Middle Ages and experts in Spain, Italy, France and Germany, as well as Britain, vied with each other to produce better quality papers. Rags were the chief source of pulp during that period. Papermaking began with the sorting of rags in which white material was picked out for better products. After being wetted and left to rot for some days, women and children cut up the rags by hand and thrust the cut material into a waterdriven stamper. Two days of pounding and washing produced a pulp. Vatmen then drew off sheets of paper with their moulds. To "load" or fill in the surface of the paper, and "size", or coat it for a smooth finish, various materials such as sheepskins and alum were used.

Many mechanical inventions improved and cheapened the process. A cylinder beater carrying knives, replaced the old stamping mill, and in the early part of the 18th century a rag cutter relieved women and children of the unhealthy task of cutting rags by hand.

By 1750 Europe's demand for paper had grown beyond the available supply of rags, and men sought new pulp material. The situation improved in 1774 when Karl Wilhelm Scheele, the Swedish chemist, discovered chlorine, a chemical that could bleach colored rags. But it remained for Friedrich Gottlob Keller, a German master-weaver, to solve this problem which had occupied the minds of chemists and paper makers for over a century. In 1884 he invented a "wood grinder". This machine slit up wood into its constituent fibres, making a very excellent pulp, a method used until today.

Rags, however, being a strong material, still produce the finest papers made. Many important American newspapers print a few copies of each edition on the more durable rag paper for their permanent files.

A machine invented by Nicolas-Louis Robert, of France, in 1798, laid the foundation for the present day papermaking machines with their almost unbelievable high rate of production. Robert's machine was the first to make paper of intermediate length in a continuous process. It brought an end to the old, slow, hand-labor process. By 1840, machines based on Robert's invention could produce 5,000 sheets in a few minutes, a feat which would have required 12 hours by the older method.

New chemical developments again changed the picture. As early as the 1850's, the mechanical process of reducing wood to fibres had been replaced in many mills by the manufacture of cellulose in which fibres are soaked in lyes at a high temperature.

The Sulphite process, first invented by an American, Benjamin C. Tilghman in 1866, and later improved, has since become a standard process for the production of the higher grades of wood pulp.

Better Baseball Plan Gets Underway On Monday

Toronto, July 25 — "Better Baseball for Young Canada," a two-week series of baseball schools for the youth of Toronto and Ontario, started Monday. Michael J. O'Neill, one-time big league pitcher and brother of famed Steve O'Neill, former Toronto manager and now coach of the Cleveland Indians, will be head instructor. Six Hours Daily

This, the most comprehensive program of education in the diamond sport ever attempted in this country, will operate six hours daily all next week in parks in the metropolitan area and the following week in parks in the western, central and eastern sections of southern Ontario.

The schools will be climaxed by a doubleheader at Maple Leaf Stadium Saturday night, August 6th, when the Toronto Junior and senior all-stars will meet the Ontario Junior and senior all-stars. Gross receipts from these games will be donated to the Toronto Minor Baseball Association for the promotion of the sport among the boys of this city.

These announcements were made today by Joe Ziegler, general manager of the Toronto Maple Leaf Baseball Club, on behalf of the three co-sponsors — the Philadelphia Phillies, of the National League, the Maple Leafs of the International League and The Telegram.

Ready to Go

"All details of the project have been ironed out and we're now ready to educate thousands of Canadian boys in the fundamentals and finer points of the game — an opportunity which they've missed in previous years because of the lack of former big league players in this country," explained Ziegler.

"The educational school has been formally and enthusiastically endorsed by Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler. Due to the interest of Robert Carpenter, president and owner of the Phillies, and Joe Reardon, general manager of the Phillies' farm clubs, we were fortunate in obtaining Michael J. O'Neill as head instructor."

Said Reardon in a wire to the Toronto general manager: "O'Neill is the best man in our organization for the type of schools planned in Ontario centres and the Phillies are only too pleased to assign him to the Maple Leafs and The Telegram for the two-week program."

The Toronto club's dynamo stressed that the schools are designed to assist ball players of all ages — the junior section being for boys 17 years and under and the senior section for youths 18 years and over.

"This will cap our program of minor baseball for the season," he continued. "I believe that at the final doubleheader under the lights at our park—that's the night of Saturday, Aug. 6th—even the oldest of our fans will be amazed at the progress being made by our boys both here in the city and throughout the province. We're going to charge the regular prices for that doubleheader because we sincerely believe that the attraction is worth it and because every cent the public pays at the gate goes to the Toronto Minor Baseball Association. For that occasion our club is glad to contribute the park, the staff and the lights, because we don't think there is a worthier cause than minor baseball to assure a happy and healthy future for the youth of the country."

All schools will open at 10 a.m. and continue until at least 4 p.m. No written application is necessary for attendance at any of the sessions but all players are asked to wear a baseball uniform, if possible, baseball shoes and a glove.

Three may keep a secret if two of them are dead.

PREMATURE SEEDING OF ONIONS

Where onions are grown from sets they frequently develop seed-stalks before a marketable bulb is produced. These seed-stalks may be picked off, but the yield and quality of the bulbs are materially reduced.

A great deal of this pre-seeding may be prevented where proper selection and handling of the sets is carried out under favourable climatic conditions, says E. Chipman, Assistant, Vegetable Growing, Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S.

Premature seeding may be attributed to one or several factors including size of set, unfavourable storage conditions, variety of onion, or unfavourable weather during growth of the onion crop, resulting in a check of growth during the long daylight periods in June.

It has been proved experimentally that a one-half-to-three-quarter-inch set will produce very few seeders. Larger sets will pre-seed and the smaller one will produce a small unmarketable onion.

Where onion sets have been stored under different temperatures it has been shown that 40 degrees to 50 degrees F. will produce more seeders than 32 degrees to 34 degrees F. This latter temperature, however, will cause shrivelling and sprouting in storage. Therefore, it may be stated that a temperature range of 32 degrees to 34 degrees F. is the most satisfactory. Sets should also be stored in a relatively dry place.

Heredity is also involved in premature seeding. Tests of many varieties have shown that the variety Ebenezer will give the least pre-seeding, plus a heavy crop of marketable bulbs. The climatic factor is, of course, largely uncontrollable, but if irrigation is available a check in growth from drought can also be avoided.

COMBINES INCREASE IN EASTERN CANADA

In the ten years, 1939-1948, the number of combine harvesters in eastern Canada multiplied by more than 16 times, to reach a total of 6,637 in 1948. The provincial breakdown of that total shows Ontario with 6,187, Quebec with 260 and 190 in the Maritimes.

In 1939, the whole of eastern Canada had a total of only 401.

That is impressive progress, but there are still two threshers to every combine in Ontario and 25 per combine in the Maritimes. In Quebec where there is a small grist mill for every five farms, there are 160 threshers for every combine.

Combine problems in Eastern Canada have been in harvesting lodged crops on seeded lands, green weed infestation, storage of damp grain and forage seeds, and the recovery of combined straw and weed seeds.

In areas where combines are most firmly established in eastern Canada the problem of undergrowth from forage seedlings has been eliminated by seeding down after harvest. The damp grain problem has been improved, or overcome, by closer attention to the condition of the crop being harvested and by holding damp grain or seed crops in bags from two to several days before binning.

Fairly economical recovery of straw has been effected by the use of hay loaders, buck rakes and straw cutters or by the use of a pick-up baler, but much of the chaff is still being lost. Recovering weed seeds from the combine, rather than spreading them back on the soil remains an urgent problem in all areas.

BORON IN MIXED FERTILIZERS

Some Canadian soils are showing deficiencies of lesser plant foods or minor elements. Boron is one of these elements. Most crops require a very small quantity of boron for satisfactory growth, but care must be taken when applying boron as it is one of the elements, when used in excess, that is toxic to plants. Boron is used quite extensively now in the orchard, root and hay crops. Besides producing health growth it corrects such disorders as corky core in apples, brown hearts in turnips, the yellowing and falling off of alfalfa leaves. When used on alkaline soils it becomes insoluble and not available for plant use so should be applied by spraying.

When mixed fertilizer include boron the container should be labelled with the active element boron—stated in pounds per ton—says G. W. Michael, Associate Chief, Dominion Department of Agriculture. This may be a little confusing to the farmer, as most of the recommendations on rates of application are based on pounds per acre of borax. Borax is one of the materials from which the element boron is derived, and approximately eleven (11) pounds of borax contains one (1) pound of boron. So you can see how little boron the plant requires when the recommended rates of application range from 20 to 60 pounds per acre (2 to 6 lbs of boron) depending upon the kind of crop for which it is recommended. Two to three pounds of boron per acre may be very beneficial for some crops, whereas six pounds may be toxic. However, a minimum quantity of one to two pounds per acre of boron may be beneficial to most crops.

SEED CROPS NOT LIKELY EQUAL 1948

Though it is too early to forecast the 1949 Canadian seed crop with great certainty, the first seed production report of conditions early in July, issued by the Plant Products Division,

Dominion Department of Agriculture, is not indicative of particularly heavy crops. Drier than average conditions as well as late frosts have been general in much of the seed producing areas of Canada this season, and certain seed crops such as cereals and some legumes and grasses are not promising.

Overall productions of the major kinds of alfalfa, clovers and grasses is unlikely to reach that of 1948, when all previous records were far exceeded for alfalfa, sweet clover, red clover, creeping red fescue and meadow fescue.

There is no reported reduction in acreage for alfalfa and sweet clover in the Prairie Provinces, and, if seed setting conditions are favourable, there is the possibility of another large crop of seeds of both these kinds.

The drought conditions in Ontario will reduce the amount of red clover and alsike clover seed harvested in that province. Not only has normal growth been seriously retarded, but the shortage of hay and pasture will force many farmers to use these crops for purposes other than seed production. Winter killing and slow growth due to dry weather in Quebec will reduce acreage intended for red clover seed production in that area. The dry conditions along with late frost may reduce the crop of both red and alsike clover seed in Alberta, which in recent years has contributed substantially to total production of both these kinds. There is not expected to be much change in the red clover seed production in British Columbia, where conditions in the producing areas have been about normal.

The high price of timothy seed which prevailed in Eastern Canada during the past spring season will encourage many farmers to save as much of this seed as possible from the 1949 crop. However, against this, there is the certainty of a light hay crop over most of Ontario and Quebec and this will be an important factor influencing the area left for seed production. Present prospects indicate that the production of timothy seed will be less than average.

Dry weather and drought in some areas of the Prairie Provinces will have a serious effect on the total of brome grass, crested wheat grass and creeping red fescue. At this time prospects for these seed crops are not good, and any recovery is unlikely. It is thought that the heavy frosts in late May did considerable damage to the Kentucky Blue Grass seed crop in Manitoba and the ultimate yield of seed will be reduced. Reports indicate that the Canada Blue Grass seed crop in Ontario will be about average.

NEW BULLETIN ON POISON IVY

No one really wants to be on speaking terms with poison ivy. But it is not a bad idea to be able to recognize it, to know what to do if you come in contact with it, and to know how to get rid of the plants. It has a habit of growing in the least expected places, and unless it is recognized immediately, the consequences can be most unpleasant. Some people can work in or with poison ivy for years, or even handle the plants without ill effects, but sooner or later even these apparently immune individuals become susceptible. But these people are exceptional, and to the average, it is just what its name implies — poison.

Poison ivy occurs in all provinces of Canada, but it grows in greatest profusion in Ontario and western Quebec. It adapts itself to a variety of growing conditions; wet or dry, shaded or sunny, and to almost any type of soil from pure sand or rocky ground, to rich woodland loam. It is especially prevalent on shores, along roadways and railway tracks, and in rocky situations. In farm land it is confined chiefly to undisturbed borders.

A pamphlet has been prepared by the Dominion Dept. of Agriculture giving all the facts about poison ivy and the best methods for its eradication. It may be obtained by writing to the Department at Ottawa, and asking for Publication 820.

Difficulty and Uncertainty Threaten Canada's External Trade

The business news of the past month has sharpened the contrast between the "generally fair weather prevailing in the domestic economy and the rising clouds of difficulty and uncertainty that threaten Canada's economic barometer appears in the Bank of Montreal's latest monthly Business Review, issued today.

"Total private and governmental capital expenditures on new plant, equipment and housing in 1949 may again attain a record," the B of M says. "A mid-year official survey of investment intentions in this regard shows that such outlays for the full year are now expected to reach $3,400 millions, an advance of three per cent over the estimate of $3,280 millions made at the beginning of the year and an increase of 11 per cent over the $3,280 millions so spent in 1948."

"External trade statistics this year reveal less favourable trends," the bank comments, "and these appear likely to become aggravated as the result of current developments abroad."

Canada's official reserves of gold and U.S. dollars reflect the trade trend as well as seasonally heavy transfers of profits by American-controlled concerns, the B of M observes. These reserves, which had increased without interruption from $480 millions in November 1947 to $1,067 millions in March of this year, fell to $991 millions in April and $997 millions in May, remaining unchanged in June.

Thorny Problems Arise In External Trade

The review describes as ominous the disclosure early this month of a critical drain in the hard-currency reserves of the United Kingdom and the rest of the sterling area and the accompanying intimation that "to the maximum extent practicable," no new purchase commitments by Britain from dollar countries will be entered into, at least until September.

"For Canada," it stresses, "a creditor in trade relations with the sterling area and a debtor on current-account transactions with the United States, the present situation poses special and pressing problems, the more so since the possibility of a return to convertibility of the pound and the U.S. dollar now seems to be pushed even further."

Changing Pattern Of Capital Flow

Citing recent official publications, the bank presents some significant aspects of the flow of capital to and from Canada during and since the war years.

"Between 1939 and 1947 the United States' investment stake in the Dominion increased by a billion dollars," the statement reports. "By contrast, within the same period the United Kingdom's investment in Canada declined by more than $800 millions, the reduction reflecting, in the main, war-time repatriation of Canadian securities."

It was officially estimated that United States-controlled manufacturing companies represented about 37 per cent of the total capital investment in Canadian manufacturing in the year 1946, the B of M continues. "For Canadian industry as a whole, including non-manufacturing categories, the percentage of total capital investment which is U.S.-controlled is officially stated to be something less than 20 per cent."

HYDRO PURCHASES HELICOPTER FOR REGULAR LINE PATROL

Regular patrol of its growing network of transmission lines, with three-seater Bell helicopter, believed to be the first aircraft of its kind ever purchased by a public utility exclusively for this type of work, will soon be inaugurated by The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

In making this announcement, the Commission stated that previous use of helicopters by power companies in the United States had been on a charter basis, the aircraft being rented rather than owned outright.

Hydro conducted its own trial flights with a chartered machine, it was pointed out. When these tests proved conclusively that helicopter patrol would be effective and reduce overall maintenance costs, the Commission decided to purchase one for regular use in line patrol.

During patrols the helicopter will normally carry a crew of two, pilot and observer, but three can be carried if required. The pilot has been specially trained for his job at a helicopter school operated by the Bell Aircraft Corporation at Niagara Falls. The engineer who will supervise maintenance of the flying "windmill" also received mechanical instruction in its operation at the Bell plant. The other member of the crew, the observer, will be an experienced member of Hydro's Operations Division, or Regional Staff, fully familiar with the numerous details of transmission line faults.

In the preliminary test patrols conducted a few months ago, it was found that in 15 actual flying hours, the helicopter did the same job that would have required 600 man hours of ground patrol. In addition, faults were discerned from the air that were not normally visible to the ground observer.

Another and valuable asset of the helicopter was also emphasized: In cases of emergency repairs it will be possible to fly the necessary men and materials in on a shuttle system, land on the line right-of-way beside the trouble spot and effect the repairs in a minimum of time.

Fleming Clan Holds Reunion

Thirteenth Annual Gathering Held At Searles Beach, Oak Lake, Well Attended

Sixty members of the Fleming Clan observed the 13th annual gathering at Searles Beach, Oak Lake, on Wednesday afternoon. With us in spirit, if not in the flesh, but mindful of the kinship that exists among us, were relatives who sent their regrets. Letters were read from Mrs. Fred Girdwood, Perth, Mrs. Walter Parry, Toronto, Mr. Arthur Richardson, Corvallis, Oregon, Mrs. Fred Hanson, Chicago, Mrs. Robert Read, Bowmanville. It was one of those family affairs where everyone entered into the joyous spirit of the occasion and there was fun for everyone.

A delicious lunch was served at 12.30. Mr. Harry Rollins acted as chairman for the following program: Song, "The More We Get Together" and the Fleming's Battle Hymn, led by Jack and Dorothy McCaughen; President's address of welcome, Mr. Walter Francis; Secretary's report, Bessie Fleming; Historian's report, given by B. Fleming, in the absence of the Historian, Mrs. Russell Scott; Treasurer's report — Mr. Ray Grant.

A two-minute silence was observed for those who had passed on during the past year. Short speeches were given by Mr. Ray Grant, Belleville, Mr. Dennis Fleming, Stoco, Mrs. Harry Rollins, Mrs. Ray Grant, Mrs. W. J. Moore, all of Belleville. Prizes were presented to: Oldest member of Clan present, Mrs. Jas. Haggerty; Youngest member present, Karen Marie Francis; Latest bride, Mrs. Wm. Pres. — Mr. Walter Francis, Crookston

1st Vice-Pres. — Dr. Russell Scott, Belleville

2nd Vice-Pres. — Mr. Wm. Ray Sec. — Bessie Fleming, Ivanhoe

Treas. — Mr. D. L. Fleming, Belleville

Historian — Mrs. Russell Scott

Songs by Jack and Dorothy McCaughen were enjoyed, "There's a Chill on the Hill Tonight" and "The Little Green Valley".

It was decided to hold the next reunion at the same place on the first Wednesday in August. Auld Lang Syne and God Save the King were sung.

An interesting sports program included races for the children and various contests for young and old. The results of the events were as follows:

Boys, 6-7, — Wayne McCaughen.

All Time High In Traffic Deaths Threatens For Last Half of '49

At least 72 persons met with violent death on Ontario roads during July. For the first seven months of 1949 the rise in accident fatalities has now reached 81. The seven months' total of 39 fatalities for 1949 compares with 315 in the same period last year. July heralded in the second half of 1949 with the grim reminder that in 1948 traffic deaths for the second six months' period more than doubled those of the first half of the year. From July to December last year the traffic deaths in each month exceeded those of any of the first six months. This year's July record threatens a continuation of this trend.

August, 1948, was the darkest month of the traffic year with a total of 94 deaths. A traffic casualty rate higher than any previously known in the history of the province is feared for the latter months of this year. The accuracy of statistical prediction, based on miles travelled and motor vehicle traffic concentrations, Arrangements for the finals of the Stirling Midget Softball League have been completed and will get under way on Saturday next, August 13th.

In the first game of a doubleheader, Stirling Merchants, who finished in second place, will clash with Stirling Rotary, who clinched the fourth and last play-off spot. In the second game, West Huntingdon, the League leaders, and Minto who finished in third place, will meet. It will be a two-out-of-three series and the second game will be played on Thursday, August 18th. The third game, if necessary, will take place on Saturday, August 20th. Dates for the final series have not been set.

Trophy Donated

A trophy for the championship has been donated by Bob Dobson, local upholsterer, and may be seen in J. S. Whitehead's window, where it is on display.

The final League standing was as follows:

West Huntingdon	7	1	0
Stirling Merchants	6	0	2
Minto	4	1	3
Stirling Rotary	2	0	6
Glen Ross	0	0	6

Car Crashes Window

Considerable property damage resulted when a car driven by Keith Johnston, of Mt. Pleasant, jumped the curb and crashed into the front of Ward's Cleaners on Monday night, breaking the large plate glass window, and damaging the framework and a number of plants on display.

The accident, which occurred when Mr. Johnston was parking his car, was caused by the sudden failure of the brakes, and no blame was attached to the driver. The loss is covered by insurance.

T.V.L. Play-offs Under Way

League secretary Barney McColi announced the final standing of the Trent Valley Softball League. Wooler finished first with Campbellford and Stirling tied for second place. Hastings and Frankford finished tied for the fourth and final playoff spot and will meet in a sudden-death playoff in Hastings. The winner of that game will meet Campbellford in a two out of three semi-final. The other semi-final opened in Trenton with Wooler playing hosts to Stirling. The league finals will be a three out of five affair. The final standing:

	P	W	L	PC
Wooler	20	14	6	700
Campbellford	20	12	8	600
Stirling	20	12	8	600
Hastings	20	10	10	500
Frankford	20	10	10	500
Colborne	20	2	18	100

is borne out by the recent statement of Hon. George Doucett, Ontario Minister of Highways. Mr. Doucett's prediction, based on Highways Department records, of 12 to 15 traffic fatalities over the August Civic Holiday week and unfortunately has been substantiated by the number of deaths already recorded for the weekend.

Anticipating these holiday tragedies the Department of Highways, Attorney-General's Department, the press, radio, service clubs and public spirited organizations everywhere made all out efforts to bring home to all drivers and pedestrians the seriousness of the traffic accident problem.

July's fatalities included 26 passengers, 20 drivers, 18 pedestrians. Of the pedestrians, 7 were children under 10, and 4 were over 70 years of age. Only 32 per cent of the fatalities were between 20 and 70 years of age, compared to 58 per cent among the older and younger age groups.

Site Purchased For School At Marmora

Centre Hastings District High School Board has purchased a site for the new junior high school, which is to be erected in Marmora. The site selected is the property of Mrs. Pearl Inkster, on Madock street, with the addition of the east part of Mr. Albert Burridge's property. The site is comparatively level and can be made into very attractive school grounds at a small cost. When so many of the pupils will be conveyed to the school by bus, the location of the site should be highly satisfactory.

Preliminary plans for the school have also been prepared and after approval by the School Board, were submitted to the Department of Education for their approval. The estimated cost was $150,000.00. Unfortunately, in spite of the assurance given by representatives of the Department that the school would be modern in every way, the Department did not give its approval to a gymnasium as part of the building and reduced the estimated expenditure to $130,000.00.

The Centre Hastings District High School Board is not satisfied with this decision and a strong deputation from the Board, accompanied by Reeve V. M. Lynch, of Marmora, Reeve C. H. Buskard, Deloro, and Elmer Sandercock, M.P.P., interviewed members of the Department of Education at Toronto and it is hoped that complete plans, as prepared, will be authorized. The interview was arranged by Mr. Sandercock.

Residents of this part of the Centre Hastings District are pleased plans for the new school are being made and while there is a great deal of routine procedure which has to be complied with before building can actually be started, it is a great satisfaction to know the Board is going ahead with the project as rapidly as possible — Marmora Herald.

Married

McADAM—ZAPFE

White larkspur, gladoli and baby's breath was the setting for the marriage in Christ Church, Deer Park, Toronto, on Thursday evening, July 28th, at 7.30 p.m., of Elizabeth Louise Zapfe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose K. Zapfe, and Dr. Blake McAdam, son of Mr. Arthur McAdam and the late Mrs. McAdam. Rev. E. J. Springett officiated, with a background of music by John Lovick at the organ, and Mrs. Allison Littlefair as soloist.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was gown in French Chantilly lace over frost-white satin. Fine tulle ruching outlined the shirred Grecian bodice, and the full skirt, accented with a draped pannier hipline and umbrella folds, fell to a short train. A shirred bonnet of tulle, held the long veil, and she carried a cascade of gardenias, swansonias, bouvardia, stephanotis and white gladiolus petals.

The matron of honour, Mrs. A. N. Murch, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. E. H. Hodgins and Miss Marilyn Yorath, wore ballet style gowns of pink tulle over gray marquisette and peach taffeta. Their cascades were of gladiolus petals, sweet peas and roses. Dr. Douglas Stoneman attended the groom. The ushers were William Turner, William Nidrie, Leith Kennedy and Dr. William Burgman, of Kirkland Lake. A reception was held at Annesley Hall where the bride's mother received in a gown of powder blue crepe and lace, with navy accessories and corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Blake Totton, gown in gray tissue faille and lace with mauve accessories and corsage of talisman roses and sweet peas. Immediately following the reception, the bride and groom left for a honeymoon in Vancouver, the bride travelling in a white serge suit with navy accessories and a corsage of red gladiolus petals.

Bruce Needs Rain; Norfolk Tobacco Develops Rapidly

Rain is badly needed in Bruce County, according to the weekly crop report from Ontario Agricultural Representatives. However, grain yields have been much better than at first expected.

Dufferin reports that the aphids have apparently ceased working in the peas. Grain has made some fine yields in this county also.

Grey reports that the army worm has largely disappeared. Damage from the worm is reported to be slight in the larger areas, but in some small districts it is more serious.

Cobourg Beach Wider

The Cobourg Beach is 25 feet wider this year than last. Parks superintendent Nicholson, pointed out that the water's edge has receded 25 feet from where it was a year ago. "You see that tree there," he said to a Cobourg Sentinel-Star reporter, "well last year the water was right up around it. But look at it now. We'll be lucky if we get along without a really bad power shortage this winter," the superintendent observed.

Small-Mouth Bass Trophy

A trophy will be presented for the largest small-mouth bass caught in district waters, it was announced last week by Ken Murphy, of the Murphy Sport Shop in Napanee.

The trophy, he said, was being presented by the Sport Shop with the hope that a more complete record of the large bass caught in the area could be tabulated. It is believed that such a trophy would stimulate friendly competition among local fishermen.

River Valley Missionary Society

The R.V.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Jane Kane on the afternoon of July 19th, for their monthly meeting. Miss Eleanor Bush played quiet music then all joined in singing the hymn "For the Beauty of the Earth". Prayer "A Plea", followed by the Lord's Prayer was given by the president.

During the business section of the meeting, a card of thanks from Mrs. Barker was read. Three home calls and four hospital calls were reported. The August meeting is to be held at

Mrs. Beatty's home under the direction of Miss Eleanor Bush and Mrs. G. Brooks.

The afternoon's programme, prepared by the Messrs Marjorie and Adele Bush, was under the theme "More Missionaries". The program opened with quiet music and the call to worship. The Scripture Lesson was taken from 1st John, 1-18. All answered the roll call by naming their favourite hymn. All joined in singing the hymn "In Christ There Is No East or West".

Marjorie Bush read a story during which all read in unison the first three lines of each verse of the hymn "Christ for the World We Sing". A paper on "More Missionaries" was very capably given by Marjorie Bush. Eleanor Bush favoured with a piano solo. Mrs. Jack Sager read a very interesting story entitled "Testing Ketal Kim". After the singing of the hymn "Come Let Us Sing of a Wonderful Love", Mrs. Don Donohoe read the story, "Why Chail Saved". The meeting closed with prayer followed by a New Testament quiz.

The hostess and her helpers served a delicious lunch and all left feeling that a very pleasant afternoon had been spent.

Library Bulging With Bibles

Bulging with Bibles, the Douglas Library of Queen's University, Kingston, possesses a rare collection of more than 500 very old editions, from vest pocket miniatures to enormous six-volume Bibles held together by big brass hinges.

The Canadian National Exhibition through Kate Aitken, CNE Educational supervisor, has asked H. Pearson Gundy, chief librarian at Queen's, to send a selection of the old Bibles to Toronto this year for display to the crowds of Exhibition visitors.

Oldest Bible in the Queen's collection is the "Biblia Latina" printed in Venice in 1493. It was presented to Queen's in its opening year, 1842, by the late Rev. Charles Brown, of Edinburgh. Walton's huge Polygot Bible, 1657, in six volumes contains the text in parallel columns in Hebrew, Latin, Aramaic, Syriac and Arabic.

There are four copies of the famous Geneva Bible, first published in 1550 and revised from previous English versions by Protestant exiles in Geneva during the reign of "Bloody Mary". First English Bible to be divided into numbered verses, it is sometimes called the "Breeches Bible" from the translation of Genesis III, 7, "and they sewed figge leaves together, and made themselves breeches".

One of the rarest items in the Queen's collection, according to Mr. Gundy, is a copy of "The Psalms of David in Prose and Metre, With Their Whole Tunes in Four or More Parts", published in Edinburgh in 1635. The music is printed upside down on every other page so that the one book could be used by a quartette for four part singing. Printed material was scarce in those days. Queen's received this book from Rev. Dr. R. W. Ross and Dr. Lorne Pierce.

From a Dutch bride of a Canadian soldier, Queen's has obtained a large Dutch family Bible printed in Dordrecht in 1730. "In beautiful black-letter type, this Bible is an excellent example of 18th century printing and binding in The Netherlands", Mr. Gundy points out.

"The text is augmented by elaborate maps of the Holy Land and illustrations. The binding is embossed leather with brass corners and two large brass clasps locks the covers together when the book is closed."

There is a second edition of The Bishop's Bible, 1569. This was the version most familiar to Shakespeare. It was used in the Church of England until superseded by the King James or Authorized version in 1611.

The Authorized version is represented in the Queen's collection by the first and second issue of 1611. The first is sometimes called the "He Bible" and the second the "She Bible" from the readings of Ruth III, 15, "and he went into the city", changed in the second issue to "and she went into the city".

Another old printed Bible in the lot, is a Latin version in black-letter type, printed about 1497 by the early Parisian printer Thielman Kerver. This one contains a quaint old woodcut of Adam and Eve being expelled from the Garden of Eden.

Queen's has a dozen 16th century Bibles, more than a score of Bibles from the 17th century and hundreds of 18th and 19th century versions in about 50 different languages and dialects. These include such unfamiliar tongues as Oressa, Erromangan, Revallion and Aneitlym.

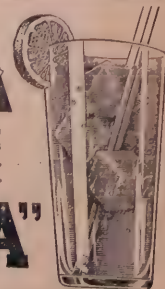

Among the North American Indian dialects there are versions in Mohawk, Chipeway, Cree, Micmac and Shawnee. The Gospel of St. Matthew in Shawnee is entitled: "Owase Opeaticamowa Ceses Kilest Tapalamalkwa Okwebile Mabew Otiwekiti". Mr. Gundy says that three of the first five books donated to start the Queen's Library back in 1840, were Bibles given by the late Judge James Mitchell. They consisted of a Latin Bible, a Greek and a French New Testament.

Engaged in a public subscription campaign for cash contributions, Queen's University is out to raise money for increased endowment.

The world's Most Popular Combine

Master Machine for Modern Farmers

A recent survey showed the owners of self-propelled combines in Western Canada to be divided like this:

61.9% were owners of Massey-Harris
38.1% were owners of other makes

This is a very significant fact. Farmers don't choose their machines by whim or fancy. Such a high preference for Massey-Harris is proof beyond doubt that Massey-Harris combines give them the best all-round performance... in fast harvesting, clean threshing, freedom from field delays, low cost of operation.

If you were to visit the Massey-Harris combine factory and watch the long train-loads of combines pulling out of the railway siding, you would see something else that is noteworthy. Many of these train-loads are destined for United States points, because Massey-Harris combines are as popular in Kansas, Texas and the Dakotas as they are in the Canadian West.

And if you observed further, you would find many carloads destined for far-away countries like Argentina, India, Turkey, Tanganyika. All over the world, the Massey-Harris self-propelled combine is known and recognized as the master machine for modern farmers. Wherever you find modern agriculture, you find Massey-Harris combines in use and in demand.

Hello Homemakers! Peaches and cream — whether we are talking of complexions or the luscious fruit, are wonderful. We cannot be too choosy about peaches this year. We'll take what we get and make good use of them while they last. They are delicious to serve at the beginning of a meal, to top off a meal, or snack between meals.

Fully ripened peaches make a speedy and a scrumptious dish — skin, slice and serve with a sprinkle of fine sugar and cream. Nowadays, we are prepared with a can of 18 per cent cream on the shelf. Without refrigerator the can can be chilled in a short time by placing it in cold water.

We slice peaches on pasty dough for an open face pie, or put them in a cake pan then cover with batter, or between slices of fresh shortcake and serve with a melba sauce. The sauce is prepared ahead of time using crushed berries. Crush and strain stewed red currants or raspberries and thickened with a paste of cornstarch (1 tbs. in 1 cup cold water). Cook until clear.

Honeyed peaches are an extra special treat. Wash and rub six peaches well with a clean cloth, but do not peel. Place in baking pan and add 1½ cups of water, ½ cup of brown sugar and 1 tbs. butter. On top of each peach put a teaspoon of honey and sprinkle with a little nutmeg. Bake in electric oven 400 degrees for about 25 minutes.

Baked peach halves are very good baked in moderate heat with only butter to grease the casserole and glaze the top of each half. Serve with cheese and a maraschino cherry in each cavity.

PEACH ROLL

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 2 to 4 tablespoons ice water
- 2 cups sliced peaches
- 1 to ½ cup brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons butter
- Dash of nutmeg

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening and add enough ice water to make a stiff dough. Chill and roll into oblong sheet. Spread peaches over dough and add enough brown sugar to sweeten to taste. Sprinkle with a dash of nutmeg; roll up like a jellyroll and bake in a well-greased baking dish in an electric oven at 350 degrees F. for half an hour. Baste with ½ cup sugar and 1 tablespoon melted butter and continue baking 20 minutes longer. Serve with cream or vanilla ice cream.

TAKE A TIP

1. Cut honeydew melon in section, scoop out seeds and then slash across sections. Squeeze a little lime juice over melon, chill, then, serve.
2. Cut a head of lettuce in quarters or eighths, wash carefully and drain. Carefully lift leaves and insert daubs of sandwich filling. Serve with tomato wedges.
3. Mulberries are best when they are eaten in a deep pie dish.
4. Meringues are an inexpensive addition to a fresh bowl of sweetened berries. Drop spoonful of meringue in a greased baking sheet in a slow oven for 30 minutes, then cool. Make one for each serving of berries.

THE LETTER BOX

Mrs. S. T. asks: How can I make crisp shoestring potatoes?

Answer: Cut raw potatoes into very fine slivers and soak them in ice water awhile. Drain them thoroughly on towel; drop quickly into very hot fat. Cook with cover off. Remove when brown, drain on soft paper. Salt only when ready to serve.

Mrs. J. M. suggests: Insert short section of drinking straws into the slits of a fruit pie before you put in the oven to bake. The juice rises in the straws instead of running over.

Mrs. H. D. says: Ever buy hickory salt from the butcher? Just a pinch of smoked salt in hamburgs is a good seasoning.

Anne Allan invites you to write to her in care of the News-Argus. Send in your suggestions on homemaking problems and watch this column for replies.

The Cyclical Budget

(By R. J. Deachman)

You have heard about cyclical budgeting, the scheme by which governments spend little in good times, open up the purse in hard times, and thus keep the ship of state on an even keel. Like a good many other things there is a measure of reason in it. It's pleasant to discuss a subject like this now that the election is over and the mind is once more clear, blood pressure slipping quietly back to normal.

It is not an open and shut case, there are two sides of it. There is an argument in defence of cyclical budgeting, but it is open to attack. A business man wants to build a house; he has money in the bank, why not build today? The answer is that labour and materials are in scant supply. Costs are high. He feels certain that prices are declining. It is reasonable that he can get a better house for less — say $6,000 in 1951, against $8,500 in 1949. Why not wait? He can get along alright for two years with the old one — if he wants to get the most for his money, but he may be wrong. Betting on next year's price level is a speculation — it always will be.

The people of Canada would like to see the construction of the Trans-Canada Highway. The route could be decided now — let's get that out of the way. Then, when labour is available, start the B.C. section, the most costly and the most interesting portion of the route. The Rock Mountains are a tourist magnet of immense importance — that there are more people in the states of Washington, Oregon, and California and more motor cars than in all Canada. What better could Canada offer as a tourist attraction than a real highway through the mountains? It would receive consideration if it were a private enterprise conducted by business men.

But the problem changes when we pass from the field of private action to the government of the nation. Business firms are dealing with limited areas. The government on the other hand, cannot go ahead with a program without a violent struggle. Spending money in one section of the country and not in another will loose support. Democratic governments spend with abandon. I doubt if they are to blame, the temper of the people calls for it!

This brings us face to face with a serious problem how are costs of government to be kept within the bounds of reason when the electorate calls for spending sprees? There's a remedy. In ancient days the Jews had what was called a sabbatical year, they freed their debtors, gave the land a rest. There are times when the treasury needs a sabbatical year — so do the taxpayers. Parties guilty of making promises to spend should be swept aside by the intelligence of the people. Guilty parties should be compelled to meet their election promises out of their campaign funds.

That's a noble idea. Unable to promise anything which involved the spending of money is the beginning of wisdom. The elimination of this subject from party politics would function like a summer fallow. It would clear the mind for more constructive efforts, leave it allow for the receipt of new ideas. There would be better leadership wiser voters and more rain — if this great change could be brought about.

We might put up a monument for the candidate who made this his main plank in a federal campaign—better still, we might plant a memorial forest, to keep his memory green.

Am I too hopeful? Is this too resolute a program? Would statesmen find a way around it? Will governments ever give us anticipated costs and expected gains from capital outlays?

The people are thinking now. Yesterday I had a request for an answer to this question: "Is Canada as a nation, richer or poorer as a result of Family Allowances?" Yes, we are thinking more than ever before — that's the most hopeful development in our national life.

IN Ontario the wheels of industry turn for the benefit of every single one of us. Our lathes, dynamos, drill presses, farm combines, tractors, business machines, etc. are producing goods and services which earn dollars. These dollars provide food, clothing, medical care and other necessities which contribute to our security and high standard of living. Every single one of us, therefore, has a very personal interest in the flow of a steady supply of trained workers to industrial plants. These workers will operate machines which are important to our way of life.

We should appreciate, then, the co-operative efforts of government, industry and labour in the field of employee training. In schools and in factories our workers, young and old, are given the opportunity to develop new and specific skills in every field of business and industrial activity. For instance, as in the pictures shown here, every effort of Ontario's newly-skilled plastics workers will mean better plastic products — will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and work.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

Our Way of Life Rewards Trained Hands

Ontario workers know they can earn more, have executive responsibility and enjoy a higher standard of living in direct ratio to the skills they acquire and the way they make use of them. That's always true in a free economy — that's why our competitive system will continue to make Canada great and a great place in which to live.

NEWS FOR THE BUSY FARMER

NEW INSECTICIDES AND BEE POISONING

For years arsenicals such as paris green and lead arsenate sprayed or dusted on vegetable crops and orchards to control harmful insects, were one of the chief hazards in the beekeeping industry. The use of arsenicals has decreased considerably with the introduction of new insecticides which are as effective or more effective in the control of most insects, and which are generally less hazardous to bees, livestock, and humans, says H. McMahon, of the Dominion Entomological Laboratory, Saskatoon.

These recently introduced chemicals include DDT, toxaphene, and chlordane. DDT is probably the most widely used of these and the most readily available. It is used in buildings to control flies, in gardens and orchards to control a number of insects, and in alfalfa fields to control Lygus bugs. Chlordane and toxaphene are extensively used in grasshopper control. Other chemicals, not extensively used in Canada yet, are benzene hexachloride and parathion. Before an insecticide is licensed for use to assess its effectiveness in destroying insects, experimental work is undertaken to assess its effectiveness in destroying harmful insects and to assure its safety with livestock and humans.

Considerable study has been given to the possible danger to honey bees from the use of these newer insecticides. This has consisted of laboratory work to measure their toxicity to bees, and also field work to appraise the actual danger to bees when the insecticides are applied to field plants. In the laboratory, bees have been fed definite quantities of chemicals to learn their toxicity as stomach poisons. Caged bees have been dusted or sprayed with the chemical, or allowed to walk over grass or paper treated with definite amounts of chemical to obtain a measure of their contact toxicity. The fumigation action of these chemicals has been compared by placing ing bees in cages above plates, or areas on which quantities of the chemicals have been applied. These laboratory tests serve only to measure the comparative toxicity of the different insecticides. They can only indicate the probable danger to bees when the chemicals are applied to plants. Supplementing this laboratory work, field experiments have been carried out in which bees from certain colonies have been marked with fuchsine dyes so that they can be identified in the field. In this way it has been possible to determine the mortality occurring in such colonies when the bees are foraging on plants treated with different insecticides, as compared with those visiting untreated plants. Some of this work has been carried out in alfalfa fields.

The results of these tests indicate that DDT and toxaphene are relatively safe chemicals when used in quantities not greater than 1½ pounds per acre, especially if applied when bees are not flying, and when plants are not in bloom. Both act as contact as well as stomach poisons. Neither has any fumigation effect.

Chlordane is highly toxic to bees as a stomach poison, and as a fumigant. Chlordane dusts have reduced the field force of colonies by 50 to 80 per cent when applied when alfalfa fields were in bloom. Parathion, a more recent when applied when alfalfa fields were in bloom, is the most toxic of the group, acting as a stomach poison, a contact poison, and a fumigant. But when comparing these newer chemicals with arsenicals, the advantage lies in the low rates necessary for controlling injurious insects. For three-quarters of a pound to two pounds of the active ingredients of the newer insecticides per acre is sufficient to control the majority of injurious insects. Much heavier concentrations of arsenicals have been required to control many insects.

In general, these new insecticides are less dangerous than the arsenicals or nicotine sulphate to man or domestic animals—at least when applied in wettable powders or dusts. All of them are dangerous in oil solutions. However, they may be used with relative safety, provided that the recommendations applicable to each chemical are followed.

HAYING BECOMING MORE MECHANIZED

A gradual but definite shift in hay harvesting methods and equipment in Eastern Canada has taken place during the last decade.

Before the war, hay mower sales in Eastern Canada ran about 6,000 to 7,000 a year, the bulk of them horse-drawn machines. Sales in 1946 totalled 10,595, of which 8,980 were horse-drawn, 93 were tractor-drawn and 1,522 were tractor-mounted.

The following year, with a better selection of equipment available, more than five times as many tractor-drawn mowers were sold as in 1946, tractor-mounted mower sales about held their own, but horse-drawn mower sales dropped by 16 per cent.

Pre-war, dump rakes used to outlast side delivery rakes by six to one, but today the ratio has been cut down to a little better than two to one. Loader sales are on the increase.

A desire to speed up operations, to increase efficiency, is regarded as a prime reason for the shift in methods and machines, but other reasons include the growing number of tractors, the improved cash position of farmers and the shortage of farm labour.

CERTIFIED SEED

Total acreage of wheat and oats inspected for Registration or Certification this year is expected to show some decrease from the record amount inspected in 1948. It is reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture. There will be a considerable reduction in area devoted to Registered and Certified old flax and to a lesser extent to barley as well. Due to the dry, cool weather which has prevailed, normal yields of cereals are not looked for in eastern Canada except in New Brunswick and possibly northern Ontario. On the Prairies, yields of these crops will be very light in the drought areas, but probably satisfactory in other sections. Some of the corn in Ontario had to be re-seeded because of frost damage, and growth in general has been slow.

VEGETABLE SEEDS

In the two principal vegetable root seed producing areas, British Columbia and Ontario, weather conditions, being dry and cool. Several of the important kinds will show some decrease in acreage, including carrot, lettuce onion, peas and mangel, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reports, however, there is expected to be a slight increase in acreage devoted to cucumber, radish, swede and beans. A surplus of canned peas from the 1948 crop has been partly responsible for a considerable reduction in acreage of canning varieties of peas for seed purposes. It is expected that there will be a slight increase in swede seed production, both in the Maritimes and in British Columbia. Mangel seed production in British Columbia will probably show a decided drop due to reduction in acreage.

WATCH THE MILK

Most housewives know the result of leaving the morning milk too long on the doorstep during hot weather — it goes sour. But perhaps not so many know that even left for short periods, if in direct sunshine, reduces the riboflavin content of the milk quite considerably. Riboflavin is one of the essential vitamins so necessary for good health.

Sometimes the milk cannot be taken in immediately, and in these circumstances it is a good plan to have a covered box into which the milkman can place the bottles.

FARM LABOUR

The agricultural labour force in Canada, as reported in March, 1949, was estimated at 936,000. According to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics Labour Force Bulletin this is considerably below the February, 1948 total of 972,000. It is estimated that about 94,000 were paid farm workers. Unpaid family workers on farms numbered 207,000, and some 610,000 reported being own-account workers without paid employees. There were fewer paid and unpaid workers and more own-account workers reported in March, 1949 than in February, 1948.

NEW MILKING MACHINE

Soviet scientists have produced a "three-beat" milking machine (squeezing-sucking-resting) which provides in each cycle a period for the restoration of blood circulation. In this way it imitates more nearly the sucking of the calf and is believed to be an improvement over the "two-beat" (squeezing-sucking) machine.

Prevent Forest Fires

It is the constant endeavour of the Department of Lands and Forests to prevent forest fires, and in so doing much consideration is given to fire causes. Once the cause is known the proper remedy can be applied. This, of course, does not apply to lightning storms, but each fire report covering this type of fire shows the species of tree or trees that were hit, and some further notation as to how the fire spread. In short, lightning causes are substantiated by visual evidence — there is no guess work.

Where fires are suspected to have been caused by sparks from railway locomotives, the locomotive number is obtained from the railway and the engine is stopped and the fire protection appliances examined en route.

A further and more intensive examination is conducted by the Fire and Transport Commission and the Railway Company when the locomotive reaches the terminal round-house.

In the case of fires suspected of being started by persons such as campers, smokers, settlers, prospectors, etc., the Provincial Police are generally called in to help in the investigation, and this is done thoroughly by these officers. Fire causes are many and varied; for example, an aged epileptic man lighting his pipe in a hayfield fell and the hayfield caught fire. From there the fire spread to the surrounding bush. A tractor grading a road emitting hot carbon particles was considered to be another cause. It is not impossible that in some instances an unexplainable cause of fires may be due to burning smoking material dropped from aircraft in flight. It has been determined that an unextinguished cigar butt dropped from aircraft will still be capable of starting a fire on hitting the ground. Then, of course, there is still the odd incendiary. One of these individuals was arrested this year and is now serving three years in Stony Mountain Penitentiary. Intensive investigation produced the evidence leading to his arrest and conviction.

Cars Crash

A car accident occurred on the hill opposite Mr. Clarence Barnum's, of Pethericks, on Saturday evening about six o'clock. The car going east was driven by Miss Marie Melklejohn. Miss Jean Morton and Jack Melklejohn were in the car also. The girls escaped with minor injuries and bruises, but Jack Melklejohn was more seriously injured and after first aid by Dr. Grant, he was sent by ambulance to Campbellford Hospital. The car going west was driven by Mr. Innis and with him was Mr. A. Johnston. Both cars were badly wrecked by the impact and all occupants were badly shaken up with cuts and bruises. Police were soon at the scene to investigate the accident.

TREAT 'EM ROUGH!

When Communists are found to be at the bottom of outlaw industrial outlaw strikes which cause great national loss, would it not be a good plan to take a leaf out of the Russian book of procedure? Without being versed in this, we imagine that any quick method of liquidating such conspirators would be considered fair enough.

In the Soviet Union. Our country is not devoid of shooting irons and ammunition. But, of course, if this method were considered too noisy or expensive, any old rope could be utilized and, despite the fact that we have wasted our forest resources, there are still a few trees around.

River Valley W.I. News

The following is a copy of a clipping sent from Abbott's Leigh, Bristol, England, to the River Valley press secretary:

"At the July meeting of Abbott's Leigh Women's Institute, the president, Mrs. Lee, gave an amusing and interesting report of the London meeting. Members asked for an evening trip to be arranged and the Institute has booked a coach for a trip in August.

A very successful garden fete was held in the gardens of Major and Mrs. J. E. Armstrong and it has been decided to earmark ten pounds out of the profits for a bursary at the new Denman College and a typewriter is being purchased for the use of the secretaries.

The set of table mats, embroidered by members of the Institute has been posted by the Handicraft Secretary to members of River Valley W.I. in Canada as they have sent us many acceptable parcels of food.

"A particularly interesting talk on antiques was given by Mr. Hugh Pritchard, who produced some lovely and rare china for inspection. It was agreed to help plant trees at Denman College in memory of the late Mrs. Watts, who introduced Women's Institutes to England from Canada thirty-three years ago.

"As August is 'Holiday Month', the next meeting will not be held until Sept. 13th."

In a letter, Mrs. Mallard says the plans are completed for their holiday trip in the evening when thirty-two of the younger members will enjoy a bus trip thirty miles distant to Horton-St. Philip and will have supper at the famous "George Inn". This inn is one of the oldest in England with black oak beams. The party also plan to visit an ancient church nearby. She attended the Wiltshire W.I. Fete at Langbeat and this old historic house, owned by Major and Mrs. Armstrong, has 365 windows, one for each day of the year. She also understood it has 52 doors for the weeks and twelve entrances for the months of the year.

The Fete was grand despite a terribly hot day with over 20,000 in attendance. They were unable to get tea as the queues were so long and in sheer desperation they had to drink cider. The Fete committee prepared for 6,000 people as it had rained heavily all week. Then on Fete Day the sun shone and thousands decided to attend. Mrs. Mallard tried hard to win the live pig but wasn't successful.

The week of July 16th, the sugar ration in England was reduced to 3 ounces per person and she says that is a blow to all the country folk. A half-pound of sugar per week is hopeless as one cannot make jams or puddings. They have to use golden syrup to sweeten cakes and that is inclined to make them heavy.

"By the way, what is Maple Syrup like? I think the name fascinates me as I have always longed since a child to taste it. I often read of it in books and magazines. One day, perhaps, this County will import some."

Early in July, she and her husband spent a day at Swanage, in Dorset. They crossed the Wiltshire Downs, which were beautiful with their fields of corn and sometimes yellow mustard. She counted nine different shades of green in a mile. Some fields of oats looked almost blue.

West Huntingdon W.M.S.

The August meeting of the West Huntingdon Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Dan Cooke with a very good attendance. The meeting was opened by the president with the call to worship. The hymn "Blessed Assurance" was sung, followed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer. Miss Joan McCurdy read 1st Psalm, after which the roll call was answered by each one giving a verse of Scripture, showing an attendance of thirteen members and several children and two visitors present. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved to preparers, were read and approved. Business was discussed and Mrs. Dan Cooke and Mrs. Mac Saries were appointed to prepare the programme for the next meeting, also Mrs. J. Moorcroft to prepare the 2nd chapter of the Study Book.

Mrs. Clayton Wright gave a reading followed with a solo by Marilyn Fitchett. Another reading was given by Miss Sarah Wilson. Mrs. Mac Saries and Mrs. Howard Cooke favoured with a duet. Mrs. P. McInroy gave the 1st chapter of the Study Book, "Growing With the Years". Mrs. S. McCurdy gave a splendid paper on church work. Mrs. W. Fitchett thanked the hostess for her kind hospitality and all those who helped her on the program. Collection was taken. The meeting closed by singing "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross" and League Benediction. The usual half hour was spent during which the hostess and her helpers served a very dainty lunch.

Belleville Rinks Sweep District Playoff Games

Belleville rinks were successful in sweeping the card when the district bowling playoffs were staged at the Belleville greens on Friday afternoon. Rinks were present from Stirling, Campbellford, Trenton and Belleville, pairs from Kingston, Madoc and Belleville and single players from Madoc and Belleville. A large gallery watched the playoffs, the preliminary games being played in the afternoon and the finals in the evening. The winners will move on to Peterborough for the zone finals to be held in that city on August 19th. The playoffs were under the direction of Cliff Argue, vice-president of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association.

Fred Harper had little difficulty in producing a win in the single competition, defeating Percy Locke, of Madoc, 21-6. In the doubles contest Gordon Edwards and L. E. McLean defeated Archie Myers and Bert Taylor, of Campbellford, 24 to 14, while J. G. Donnelly and Ralph Hinton, of Kingston, defeated N. Samson and W. E. Connor, of Madoc, by a score of 25 to 23. In the final the Belleville pair easily defeated the Kingston team by a 27-to-7 count.

In the rinks competition four were on hand and Belleville rink, skipped by Ab Wonnacott and having Ray Grant, lead, Joe Legault, second, and C. B. McGuire, as vice, defeated Trenton with F. Fuller, J. Armstrong, Gordon Davis and Russ Hubbell by a 25-to-11 count. In the other draw X. P. Mayhew, Ashley Brooks, Dr. E. A. Carleton and Walter Elliott were defeated by Dwight Bennett, Lou Glover, Webb Kingston and Charles Palliser, of Campbellford, by a score of 27 to 18. In the final, Wonnacott's rink took the measure of the northerners by a score of 24 to 12.

Stirling Beaten By Campbellford

Campbellford defeated Stirling in a sudden death game for the second place in the Trent Valley Softball League by 15-10 at Campbellford on Thursday night before the biggest crowd of the season. Circuit clouts by Herrington and D. Holmes and triples by Fralick and Bibby paved the way for the home club's victory.

Sparked by Dafeo and Dobson, the visitors made a strong rally in the eighth inning, crossing the home plate six times, but they could not overcome Campbellford's early lead. Mount Pleasant W.M.S. Service

On Sunday morning, July 31st, the W.M.S. held a special church service with the first vice-president, Mrs. Roy Thrasher, in charge. The service opened with "Come Let Us Sing of a Wonderful Love" and Mrs. Allan Bailey offered prayer.

Mrs. Ross Hoard presided at the piano. Mrs. Frank Jeffs read a number of "God's Promises", Mrs. Thrasher read a paper on "Missions" and "What W.M.S. Stands For". Mrs. Marguerite McMullen contributed a vocal solo. Mrs. Percy MacMullen gave an excerpt from a noon-hour devotional at Dominion Board on the theme, "The Faith Whereby the Church Must Live".

Bonarlaw Honours Newlyweds

A pleasant evening was spent on Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. McKeown, Bonarlaw, when a large number of friends and relatives gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sutton, who were married on Saturday.

The chairman was Charles Wellman. An appropriate address was read by Harold Stiles, who presented the young couple with a purse of money. Mr. and Mrs. Sutton thanked their many friends for the kindly gesture and invited them all to visit them in their new home in St. Catharines.

Northumberland says that yields of grain are better than at first anticipated.
